Library Renovation Plans Interesting To 11 Developers

By Sue Aucella Deacon

At least 11 developers are interested in renovating Memorial Hall Library to the town's specifications, the town manager told the Reuse Committee Tuesday, and town officials plan to choose a developer by Oct. 15.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony met with developers at the library Tuesday afternoon to distribute developer's kits for the expansion project; the kits included a description of the project, final specifications and architects' drawings.

Final plans for the project, drawn by the venerable Boston firm of Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson and Abbot, were delivered to the town Tuesday, and Mahony said the architects did an "outstanding" job of "blending the old with the new."

The developers apparently interested in bidding on the project are "good people," the manager said, including R.M. Bradley, developers of West Andover's Industrial Tech Park; Peabody Construction, general contractor for the school building project now nearing completion; Corcoran Brothers, developers of the Andover Commons project at the former Tyer Rubber site; Cyr Construction, a local firm; and Andover realtor and developer Lou Patracone.

The manager said he expected a few more developers to pick up kits, in addition to the 11 who attended this week's meeting at the library.

Annual town meeting approved a sell-and-buy-back plan to expand the library at a savings to the town. Andover will sell the building to a developer who will renovate it to the town's specifications and then lease the building to Andover for 15 years; the town will then buy back the building. The plan is designed to take advantage of federal tax credits available only to private developers and not to municipalities.

Federal lawmakers have now closed the loophole that allows cities and towns to use sell-and-buy-back plans to gain that tax advantage, but Andover — along with other municipalities across the country — has won exemptions to allow the completion of projects already underway.

According to Mahony, the town must sell the library to a developer by Dec. 31 to keep that exemption, and that is why a developer must be chosen by mid-October.

Renovations at the former East Junior High School are also operating under an exemption, and work there is "proceeding very fast, and I think quite well," the manager said. Town officials still hope to move all town offices into the East wings by the end of December, he noted. School offices may also move in at that time.

The two wings have been sold to Andover Office Associates, owned by Robert Webster of Channel Building Company, and that firm is currently working on the renovations. When renovations are complete, the firm will lease the wings to the town for 15 years, and the town will then buy back the property.

The Superior Court recently denied a request for an injunction to stop work on the project, and the ten Andover taxpayers who requested that injunction have filed an appeal. Mahony said the town is still waiting for the appellate court's decision.

The taxpayers, members of the local carpenters union, charge that the sell-and-buy-back plan was used to circumvent state bidding laws.

Working with the town, the developer is

School Lunches Increased For Some

School lunches will cost 10 cents more for elementary and junior high school students this year, but will remain the same as last year for high school students.

The School Committee Tuesday night voted to increase the price of a school lunch from 65 cents to 75 cents in the lower grades; the price will stay at 75 cents at the high school.

Food Service Director Richard Barron recommended the 10-cent increase to help keep the lunch program "just barely in the black ink," Business Manager Francis Paul told the committee. Last year the lunch program ended up with a $7,736 operating loss, Paul said; this year, labor costs will increase by $12,000, and food prices are expected to rise as well.

The business manager said high school lunches will cost the same this year because the profitable snack bar there is expected to offset increased costs.

Physicals To Be Offered In Spring

The school department will not offer low-cost athletic physicals this fall, but plans to offer them to students next spring, the School Committee indicated Tuesday night.

Earlier this summer, the committee asked the administration to try to set up clinics where students could get the annual physical exams they need to participate in school sports at a lower cost than they could get from their family physicians.

Superintendent Kenneth Seifert this week told the committee it would have been "very difficult, if not impossible" to offer physicals at school this fall because the administration could not tell local physicians how many students would need physicals — and that would help determine the cost of the school clinics. He suggested the program be started next spring.

Chairman Richard Neal noted that spring would also be a more convenient time to notify parents and students that the physicals would be available, since school would then be in session.

Selectmen Facing Light Agenda

The Board of Selectmen will meet at 7:30 at Town Hall Monday night, and they are expected to take up another light agenda. The summer months are customarily quiet ones for the board, and although fall is upon us, town business has yet to pick up.

The Planning Board will also meet next week: The planners are scheduled to meet at 7:30 Tuesday night in the Essex Street theatre building. Among other agenda items, they will hold a public hearing on problems at the Indian Ridge subdivision and discuss the progress of the comprehensive planning process.

Police To Enforce Regulations

With the resumption of classes next Monday, Andover police will begin a program of selective enforcement of regulations pertaining to the safety of children going to and from schools.

Police will be patrolling school areas insuring conformance with the 20 mile-per-hour speed limit within school zones, which are specifically posted and blinking lights issue a warning of the approach of the zone.

Also, the police will be ticketing cars which are blocking sidewalks on routes proceeding to and from the schools.

Chorus To Attend Music Camp Saturday

For the first time the AllTown Chorus, comprised of children from all elementary schools in Andover, will hold music camp both Friday, Sept. 9, and Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at West Elementary School.

The children will work on their program for the coming concert season. Their first performance will be at the school's dedication of the new Performing Arts Center, Thursday, Sept. 22, followed by an appearance with Andover High School's Madrigal Chorus at the community's dedication ceremony September 25 at 3 p.m.

The members of the chorus and staff hope to compete successfully in auditions for All-State Chorus in November.

Members are asked to arrive on time and bring lunch for both days of music camp.

AHS Band Members At Academy

Cathy Snow, drum major, and David Pascucci, assistant drum major of the Andover High School marching band, recently attended the George N. Parks Drum Major Academy at Hampshire College in Amherst.

There were 140 participants in this five-day event representing schools from Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. During the closing day ceremonies, a precision marching competition was held with squads composed of a leader and four members. Snow was the leader of her squad with Pascucci a member of the same squad and they distinguished themselves by placing sixth. A "drum-major salute" competition followed with Pascucci placing third and Snow in ninth place. The final competition of the day was a "march-off" in which all participants march to commands randomly given with the sole purpose of confusing and thereby eliminating the marchers. Snow was declared the winner. The tuition for the two students to attend this academy is paid for by the Andover Band Association.

Allen Minkinen, band director, has announced that in addition to performing during half-time at all football games, the band will compete in the following New England Scholastic Band Association competitions: Oct. 2 at Haverhill; Oct. 9 at Portsmouth, N.H.; Oct. 22 at Wakefield; and Oct. 30 at Beverly. The band will host its fourth annual competition November 6 and will participate in the NESBA finals November 13.

Members of the band are planning a bake sale Saturday, Sept. 10, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at DeMoulas in Shawsheen Plaza. The proceeds will be used to purchase a bass drum for use in the band's

Earley Is Awarded Scholarship

Daniel M. Earley, 20 School St., North Andover, an electrical engineering student at the University of Lowell, Lowell, has received a $500 scholarship from Raytheon Corp. to defray his tuition expenses for his senior year.

Earley was one of seven ULowell electrical engineering majors entering their senior year to receive scholarships as part of the Microwave Intern Program at the university.

Selection for the scholarship awards is based upon the students' performance in a summer microwave engineering program and their inclination to pursue additional studies in microwave technology. Funding for the program is currently being made available by Raytheon, Anzac of Burlington and MA/COM, also of Burlington, in an effort to alleviate the current shortage of microwave engineers within many of the New England high technology companies.

Graham, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Graham, 14 Arundel St., is a sophomore planning to major in psychology.

Fuller, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fuller, 37 Linwood St., is a junior majoring in accounting.

The scholarship is given in memory of the late Rev. James F. McNulty, O.S.A., a former resident of Andover and nationally known spiritual author and expert in preaching and retreat work. Through the scholarship, $1,000 is awarded annually to one or more students who are members of St. Augustine's Parish in Andover and are full-time students at Merrimack College.

Scholarship recipients are selected by a committee from St. Augustine's based on need and merit.

Appointed Dean At Merrimack

Patricia E. Peters, associate director for the New England Regional Office of the College Board, has been appointed dean of admissions and financial aid at Merrimack College in North Andover, it was announced by Merrimack President Reverend John E. Deegan, O.S.A.

A native of Hooksett, N.H., Peters has extensive experience in the college admissions area. She has served since 1976 as associate director for the New England Regional Office of the College Boards. In that position she worked closely with high school guidance counselors and college admissions officers in the six New England states, addressing such issues as admissions testing, research and recruitment.

Prior to her position with the College Board, Peters was director of admissions at Mount Saint Mary College in Hooksett from 1973-76. She served from 1975-76 as president of the New Hampshire Admissions Consortium, an organization of 13 colleges and universities.

Rev. Deegan cited Peters' "wealth of experience in the college admissions and placement areas" as major reasons for her appointment.

"We're extremely pleased to have Patricia Peters as a member of our administrative team," he remarked.

"Her expertise and excellent reputation in the college admission area will undoubtedly enhance Merrimack's admissions effort," the Merrimack president added.

Peters received a B.A. in English from Mount Saint Mary College in 1972 and is completing her M.B.A. degree at Babson College.

Selected for inclusion in the 1981 edition of "Outstanding Young Women in America," she is a member of various associations including American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers, New England Association of College Admissions Counselors and the New England Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers.

She and her husband, Phillip, reside in Nashua, N.H.

Library Offers New Service

The reference department of Memorial Hall Library now has access to DIALOG, a computer-based information retrieval system. With databases covering science, technology, business, economics, current affairs, the social sciences and humanities, trained librarians can retrieve references to countless articles, papers and reports to help patrons find what they want. For example, DIALOG can provide references to articles on Videotex or Cable TV as a new advertising medium, on recent research on artificial pancreas or to articles on the business applications of the Fibonacci theory. Online database searches extend the resources already available in the library to those who need a greater variety of sources or more current information, especially to those in business, government and education.

Due to online charges, computer time and extra staff time involved in these searches, a fee will be assessed. For details on ordering a DIALOG search, contact Mrs. Shirley McGrath at the library.

Dr. Paul Anthony Dollard of Andover received the Academy of General Dentistry's prestigious Fellowship award during a special ceremony in Toronto. More than 500 general dentists received Fellowship during AGD-Toronto: A new leaf in learning, AGD's 31st annual meeting. To earn the award, AGD members must complete more than 500 hours of continuing dental education within ten years.

Reopening

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Sean L. Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Norris, Jr., 7 Walnut Avenue, Andover, has completed recruit training at the Coast Guard Training Center, Cape May, N.J.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studies general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training leading toward their qualification in one of the Coast Guard's 26 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were first aid, seamanship, Coast Guard history and regulations, close order drill and damage control.

Memorial Hall Library, Andover, Tuesday, Sept. 20, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The program is free and refreshments will be served.

"Every child follows his or her own built-in timetable," comments Joyce Russell, RN, MED, who will facilitate the discussion.

Russell is the hospital's director of education and has particular expertise in children and education. "Children are not adults. They do not think like adults. Human life is characterized by almost constant change. Sometimes that change does not fit into our daily routine," Russell commented.

"How often have we heard a mother say 'why' in desperation. For example, when Tommy breaks grandma's antique vase seemingly on purpose," she said.

"At the discussion I hope we will take a look at why kids do the things they do and share our feelings with one another," she concluded.

To Perform At Methuen Music Hall

Two distinguished local arts, Donald Olson, organist, and Ivan Sjostrom, pianist, will combine their talents on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 8:30 p.m. at the Methuen Memorial Music Hall. Proceeds of the concert will be added to a fund established to award scholarships to graduating high school seniors who plan to major in music at college.

Olson is a native of Osceola, Wisc., and a graduate of St. Olaf College, Northfield, where he majored in organ and church music. He is executive vice president and general manager of the Andover Organ Company and has served on the board of directors of the American Institute of Organbuilders. He has concertized widely in New England and elsewhere.

Sjostrom is director of music at the Unitarian-Universalist Church in Andover and has appeared many times both as organist and pianist at the Music Hall.

Olson will present Introduction and Passacaglia, Max Reger; Chorale Prelude: Gammal Fabodpsalm fran Dalarna, Oskar Lindberg; Praeludium und Liebestod from Tristan und Isolde, Richard Wagner. Piano duets include Sonata in K. K.381, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, and Hungarian Dances, Johannes Brahms. The final selection, at piano and organ, will be Konzertstück, Op. 92 (Introduction and Allegro Appassionato, Robert Schumann).

The Music Hall is located on Broadway (Route 28) in Methuen. Offstreet parking is provided.

$1.7 Million Funding For Local Project

An economic development project for Lawrence of almost $1.7 million was announced recently by James H. Angevine, regional administrator for New England of the U.S. Small Business Administration.

This project is funded under the authority of SBA's 503 Economic Development Program, which was established for small businesses to help develop new jobs and retain existing ones.

Finelle Industries, Inc., a Lawrence manufacturer and distributor of cosmetic products, which now operates from two locations in Haverhill and a third in Lawrence, will consolidate all operations in a single, new building in Lawrence.

"Because Haverhill and Lawrence are only six miles apart, no job losses are expected for the existing workforce," Angevine said. "We anticipate an increase almost immediately of 60 more people beyond Finelle's current 86 workers and expect that another 50 will be employed by 1987 in this area of high unemployment."

"This is even more significant than first appears. While over 100 new jobs will be created directly, the multiplier effect will cause additional job reaction throughout the Lawrence area," Angevine said.

"This type of job creation, more than doubling the employment in one firm in this case, is exactly what President Reagan had in mind when he directed that we involve the private sector in government financing programs."

The Lawrence Project financing will be used to purchase land, construct a new building and acquire necessary equipment. Funding involves and SBA debenture of one-half million dollars, an industrial revenue bond of one million dollars and a large capital injection by the firm. The certified development company responsible for packaging the project was Bay Colony Development Company of West Newton.

Agency Sets Budget Hearing

If you've had your car for 25 years, it is considered by car buffs to be an antique and qualifies for special license plates.

Linda J. Syiek

Julie Hardin, Greater Lawrence area director for the Department of Social Services, announced recently that a public meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 13, at Merrimack College, McQuade Library Auditorium, Route 114, North Andover, at 7 p.m. in order to seek suggestions and feedback from the community regarding present programs and unmet needs as the agency prepares for its fiscal-year 1985 budget.

"This will be a fine opportunity for consumers and agencies under contract to DSS to have their say," she said. "Indeed, any person who is interested in discovering more about the provision of social services locally is invited to attend. We are cooperating with the chairpersons of our Citizen Advisory Board to ensure that everyone feels welcome."

Martin Cohen, chairperson of the Greater Lawrence Citizen Advisory Board, noted that invited guests include Phillip Johnston, director of the Governor's Office of Human Resources, and Joseph Collins, deputy commissioner of DSS. Cohen said that members of the state legislature, judges and district attorneys have also been invited.

Oral and written comments will be accepted at the meeting. Written testimony may also be submitted until September 23 to Edward Raynard, Department of Social Services, P.O. Box 657, Middleton, MA 01949.

The meeting is co-sponsored by the Region III Citizen Advisory Board Chairpersons and DSS Region III.

She is a 1983 cum laude graduate of Colby College, Waterville, Maine, receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree with distinction in the major of Biology.

While at Colby College, Syiek was a member of the swim team and a dorm staff advisor.

Students Explore Andover

Hiking through history was the goal of seven curious children enrolled in Kaleidoscope History Mystery. The Kaleidoscope program is a summer enrichment program for children of the Merrimack Valley.

Wearing backpacks and using detective skills, they investigated several areas of Andover. First the local Indians were examined. The group learned of the purchase of the land of Andover from Cutshamachie, the Sagamore of Massachusetts, for six pounds and a coat. The town seal represents this land sale. Students enjoyed discovering this likeness in the floor of town hall. A hike to Roger's Dell led to further information about the Indians as it is believed that Indian Roger lived there. A description of dwellings, customs and activities as well as various raids on early settlers fascinated the group.

Looking Up, the second theme, set the tone for discovery of old Main Street. The students compared streets, buildings, architecture and means of travel by using historic photographs. Memorial Hall Library provided a rich history due to its several architectural changes. Some students liked the original design of the building, while others favored the more modern versions. By using keen detective work, the group traced the evolution of the old Elm Square with its huge tree and several dirt roads to the newly completed crossing.

Exploring early mill sites along the Shawsheen River sparked curiosity about water power, dams, turbines and mill construction. A tour inside one of the 19th century mill buildings revealed large wood beams and posts, brick walls and sturdy wooden floors. The top floor offered a birds-eye view of the river system and Andover rooftops. A look at former mill worker housing and inspection of the abandoned railroad added to the venture.

Later in the week the children completed a Senses Search while hiking through the Purdon Reservation. The search led to the natural amphitheater named Webster Hollow. General belief holds that Daniel Webster addressed a gathering in 1843 at this location.

The Benjamin Abbot House on Andover Street lent itself to creating images of another time. This 17th century house reflects life on the farm nearly 300 years ago. Students sought evidence of the several additions to the original house, including the barn.

Lock's Tavern, America House, former Mansion House and print shop were a few of the stops on The Hill Hike which rounded out the week. Other highlights included the old militia training field, now site of the bell tower of Phillips Academy, and the academy itself. The students saw visual recreations of Indian life along the Merrimack in the Peabody Museum. A tour of the Amos Blanchard House finished the journey. This 1819 structure, home of the Andover Historical Society, served as the daily gathering place of the History Mystery program.

Ends Long State Career

A 27-year career in state government has finally ended for Charles N. Collatos of Andover. He will be succeeded this September in his long-held job as commissioner of the Office of Veterans' Services for the Commonwealth by retired Air Force Colonel John Halachis of Framingham, named by Governor Dukakis. Prior to the initial appointment as commissioner, Collatos served as a secretary to Governor Paul A. Dever.

Governors since 1955 have either reappointed him as veterans affairs commissioner or left him as a hold-over. Neither Republican or Democratic chief executives made any effort to break his long-standing career and leadership on veterans affairs until now.

Only a few days before his successor was named, Collatos was appointed to an 18-member national advisory board by Federal Veterans Administrator Harry N. Walters. The committee's work is to counsel Walters in planning special needs for women veterans with respect to health care, rehabilitation, benefits compensation, outreach programs, etc. Members of the committee were selected to reflect a balance of representatives from across the nation and from all U.S. wars.

Nationally known in veteran circles, having served as the national president of the Association of State Directors of Veterans Affairs and a past commander of the American Legion, Collatos was the first World War II veteran to serve as national executive committeeman from Massachusetts of the American Legion.

He is also a member of the Disabled American Veterans, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the AMVETS.

Collatos served as a chief warrant officer in World War II in France, Germany, Denmark, Italy and England as a member of the 1st Airborne Task Force and the Allied Airborne Army. He was assigned to the Potsdam Conference in Germany on special duty concerning President Harry S. Truman's participation.

Collatos received the High Honor of Grand Master bestowed by His Holiness Patriarch Athenogoras (Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church, Istanbul, Turkey).

He has been honored three times by the hierarchy of the Greek Church. He received the high classification of Brigadier of the Knights of the Holy Sepulchre from Patriarch Benedictos I of Jerusalem and has been bestowed with the honor of an Orthodox Crusader of the Most Holy Sepulchre and Holy Mother Church by His Holiness, Patriarch Diodoros, I, his successor in Jerusalem.

Collatos is a graduate of Northeastern University, Suffolk University Law School, a director of the Suffolk University Law School Alumni Association, a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association, Washington D.C. Bar Association, a member of the board of overseers of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, former trustee of Hellenic College as well as being a member of the presidential appeal board, and member of the National Advisory Council of the U.S. Senate on Veterans Affairs.

Special Program Opens Church School At South

The Clown Troupe from Hingham Congregational Church will celebrate the opening day of Sunday School at South Church on September 11. The clowning ministry was started four years ago by its leader, then assistant minister, Ed Bartholomew, with the assistance and inspiration of his family and Mrs. Jan Bacon, Christian Education coordinator of the Hingham Church.

Christian Education at South Church is focused on facing a changing world, changing lives and the challenges of the year. With music, props, energy and love, the clowns will present their message entitled "Three Parables—The Cycle of Life," a message to people of all ages. The performers are Tara Scotton, Dave and Andrew Delano, Ed and Karen Bartholomew and Jamie Hughes.

At 9:15 a.m. adults and children, three years old and up, will meet in the Sanctuary for a brief worship led by the Clown Troupe. The Sunday School is again using "The Good News Curriculum," published by Augsburg. Following the worship, children will go with their church school teachers while adults will gather for coffee and information about the Christian Education courses.

Four adult classes will be offered. "Foundations," a study of the basics of the Christian faith, is designed for those who want a grounding in their faith, have questions about what it means to be a Christian or who are new to church. Gre Jehl will lead this study.

"In Word Bound," led by Dr. Larry Larsen, will study the Great New Testament Doctrines with a look at several key areas of doctrine found in Scripture.

"A Faith that Does Justice" will look at social justice, the journey inward, the journey outward, how does one's faith life, one's spirituality express itself in our moral and political choices. The class will use the book "The Call to Conversion" by Jim Wallis, pastor and prophet of the Sojourners Community in Washington, D.C. There will be guest speakers. Babbie Schick will lead this class.

"Communication: Key to Your Marriage," a course aimed at couples and marrieds who wish to relate their faith to that most important relationship—marriage. This class will be led by David and Vikki Melvin. David is assistant pastor at South Church.

Youths Aid In Special Project

For an entire week a group of young people from the Andover Baptist Church, accompanied by Rev. Reg MacDonald, pastor, took part in a special project to build a house in Warner, N.H. The project is sponsored by Habitat for Humanity, a non-profit Christian housing ministry dedicated to helping poor people improve their living conditions.

The group from the Baptist church was one of many such groups which volunteered their time and talents to build a house for a family which could not afford a home. During the week, the Andover group was able to completely frame the first floor of a modest ranch-style home.

During the Civil War, with metal money being hoarded, postage stamps were often used in lieu of coins.

Yom Kippur Services At Temple

The feeling of Yom Kippur is not one of mourning, but rather one of seriousness. The Kol Nidre chant sets the tone for the day of fasting and soul-searching. More a legal formula than a prayer, it expresses the idea that man's plans and promises, no matter how earnest, cannot always be fulfilled. In the coming year, as in the past year, promises made to God and to the worshiper himself may be wiped clean from the slate. However, those commitments made to one's fellow man are not so easily eradicated; this is an issue between individuals.

The Hebrew word "chet" is usually translated in English as "sin." This, however, is not a translation which carries the message of the Hebrew. Chet has its origins in archery and is used to indicate "missing the mark." Such is the Jewish concept of sin, the mission of one's goal, losing sight of the important things in life. Among those spelled out for the congregation are sinning through word of mouth, abuse of power, disrespect for parents and teachings, exploitation of one's neighbor.

The most poignant moment of the day comes in the Neilah Service, the very last moments of Yom Kippur as the sun's shadow covers more and more of the earth. "It is not the death of sinners You demand, only that they return to You, return to life," says the new Union Prayerbook, "Gates of Repentance." "Trusting in Thy gracious promise, we have come before Thee, O Father, conscious of our guilt, yearning for Thine altar of peace. Condemned by the judge within us, we reflect sorrowfully on a life misused and filled with regrets, on opportunities neglected and resolves come to naught," the liturgy continues.

Then, as if in a final reminder, the great call of the Shofar is sounded and the Yamim Noraim draw to a close.

Services will be held at Temple Emanuel, 7 Haggetts Pond Road, Andover.

Donald Sherman, president of Temple Emanuel, will be joined on the pulpit by Dr. Martin Baer, Jack Hayman, Lewis Gack and Dr. Norman Rogers, Temple vice presidents.

The following is a schedule of services:

Kol Nidre - Friday, Sept. 16, 7 p.m.

Yom Kippur - Saturday, Sept. 17, Traditional Minyan Shacharit, 8:45 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.; Main Service, 10 a.m.; Mincha (afternoon service), 4 p.m.; Neilah (closing service), 5 p.m., to be followed by Sounding of the Shofar and Havdallah Service.

Schedule Resumes At Church

The Andover Baptist Church will hold its regular morning service at 10:50 a.m. and an evening service at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 11.

Sunday School will also return to a Fall and Winter schedule meeting at 9:30 a.m.

The Sunday School will have a special program for their first meeting on the 11th, including the launching of Good News balloons by all the children at 10:20 a.m. There will be refreshments for all those attending the program.

Rally Day Sunday At Church

Rally Day will be observed at the Ballard Vale United Church (United Methodist Church, United Church of Christ) at this Sunday's 9:30 a.m. service of worship.

Rally Day and Christian Education Sunday mark the beginning of the fall program of the church school. This year's theme is "Let All The Children Come." Bibles will be given to new third graders and to children who have not received Bibles in the past. Parents will be able to register their children for all classes which will begin Sunday, Sept. 18. On that Sunday worship and church school will be at 10:30 a.m. with an adult class at 9:30 a.m., a schedule that will be followed for the rest of the year.

Conference

A conference for all those interested in education of the gifted will be held Saturday, Oct. 1, at Simmons College, 300 The Fenway, Boston. Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m.

The day-long conference, entitled "Finding and Developing Hidden Talents," is sponsored by The Massachusetts Association for the Advancement of Individual Potential (MAAIP), a statewide advocacy group focusing on the needs of the gifted and talented and by Simmons College and the Massachusetts State Department of Education.

Noel Johnson and Franklin Banks will speak on Black achievers. Dr. Alan White will speak on handicapped gifted. Dr. Gertrude Webb will speak on right-brain-dominant pupils. Maryellen Cunnion will speak on gifted females and Roselyn Jacobvitz will have vocational education for the gifted as her topic.

Other sessions will treat bilingual gifted, urban gifted programs, underachieving gifted and computer and science programs for urban gifted.

A keynote address will be given by Dr. James Delisle of the University of Connecticut, specialist in guidance of gifted students.

Flower Show

The Arrangers of Marblehead are celebrating their 50th Anniversary by staging a special juried exhibition of seasonal floral arrangements and horticultural specimens at the Peabody Museum of Salem. Taking as their theme the Great Age of Sail, the Arrangers will group their show, "Trade Winds," into three different divisions.

The first will be a standard flower show featuring six different classes of design. These floral arrangements will be placed in appropriate spots throughout the museum.

The second division concerns itself with horticulture and includes seven classes and their subdivisions.

The final division is an educational exhibit featuring plant material brought from the Orient by merchants and sea captains during the Great Age of Sail.

AMC Walk

The Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club will conduct a walk on the grounds of Parker River Wildlife Reservation on Plum Island on Sunday, Sept. 11. This event is open to the public. Meet at 1:15 p.m. at the parking lot of South Church, Central Street, Andover, for carpooling or at 2 p.m. in front of the entrance to the reservation. ## Historical Workshops Begin Fall Season

Members of the education committee of the Andover Historical Society will kick off the Fall season with workshops at 9 a.m. September 8 and 15 in the library of the Amos Blanchard House, 97 Main St.

Each Fall and Spring the committee portrays life in Andover during the 1820s. Utilizing the theme of "Choosing to do Work," various occupations, including housekeeping, storekeeping, firefighting, printing and farming, are dramatized.

The fifth grade classes from town visit the society annually for this program. Each student is given the identity of an actual person who lived and worked in Andover during that era. While visiting each work station, the children participate with hands-on experiences. Writing with a quill pen, folding books, examining a flail, voting at a Friendly Fire Society meeting and carding wool are but a sampling of activities the students enjoy.

New members are welcome and encouraged to contact Holly Plamondon or Pat Copetta, chairpersons, or the society office which is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

His department will support the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in the development of the MARK IVA Network Consolidation Program and the Naval Oceans Systems Center in San Diego with a variety of electronic warfare and communications-oriented efforts.

Hart joined MITRE, a computer-based system engineering firm headquartered in Bedford, in 1960 as a member of the technical staff in radar technology, where he participated in the development of large time-bandwidth-product filters and their applications to radar systems.

He transferred to MITRE's offices at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, in 1970 where he became a subdepartment head and was active in the analysis and development of electronic warfare equipment. In 1973 he returned to corporate headquarters to lead signal processing tasks as a group leader in signal processing and electronic warfare.

He became associate department head in 1977 and held this position in aerospace surveillance and navigation from 1977-78 and in naval systems and technical intelligence from 1979-82. During this period he resided in Andover.

Born in Lawrence, Hart graduated from St. John's Preparatory School in Danvers. He earned bachelor of science (1957) and master of science (1959) degrees in electrical engineering from the Lowell Technological Institute where he also served as an instructor in the electrical engineering department.

School Board Increases Music User Fee To Retain Program

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The School Committee this week voted unanimously but with regret to increase the user fee for instrumental music lessons from $35 to $50 per student.

Committee members agreed to set a maximum fee of $65 per family; that figure was increased from $50 per family.

"I regret that we're looking at increasing fees," Chairman Richard Neal commented. "I would like to eliminate them. But it appears that this is the only way to continue this program this year."

During the committee's last meeting, Assistant Superintendent Charles Mitsakos said music fees should be increased because a $25,000 revolving fund used to support the program was down to $16,000. Unless the fees were increased to generate more revenue, the school department would have to cut a half-time teaching position and cut back the music program, he said.

This week, Mitsakos estimated that the increased fees would bring in $27,300, an increase of about $10,000 in the revolving fund and enough to maintain the teaching staff as is.

According to the assistant superintendent, an estimated 560 children will take music lessons, with 20 of them paying a $15 fee as siblings of a first child paying the basic $50 fee.

Athletic user fees will remain the same as last year: $20 per student per after-school sport, with a $35 maximum fee per student and a $50 maximum fee per family.

Also during their Tuesday night meeting at Andover High School, the committee discussed, but did not vote on, a revised attendance and tardiness policy.

Neal noted that the committee had voted to accept the concept behind the revised policy during their August meeting. They did not vote on the policy this week, however, after Donald Robb recommended that the policy be condensed to eliminate some repetitions and make the policy more clear.

Robb, who was absent when the committee discussed the revised policy last month, suggested that its two separate sections on attendance in the elementary schools and in the secondary schools be combined into one policy.

Superintendent Kenneth Seifert said that would be difficult to accomplish, because the policy also included procedures for implementing the policy — and those procedures differ from the upper to the lower grade levels. Neal responded that the policy should be separated from the procedural sections.

Robb volunteered to condense the two policy sections into one for the committee's consideration, and a first-pass vote, at a future meeting.

The chairman also noted that the policy discourages parents from scheduling family vacations while school is in session, and does not obligate school staff to help students make up the work they miss while on such vacations. Teachers should, however, at least tell students what topics were covered and what assignments they missed, Neal added.

The committee agreed to review its attendance policy last spring, after some parents complained about a provision in the existing policy that required students to bring in a physician's note to excuse absences. Parents argued that a parent's note should suffice.

The new policy states that all absences require a note of explanation from parent or guardian. Students are restricted to eight absences during a quarter, 12 during a semester and 15 during the year; beyond that, they will be given failing grades for incomplete attendance. (The policy makes an exception for long-term illnesses.)

And the committee voted to accept a direction letter for the 1983-84 academic year, written by committeeman Robert Smith, which sets the committee's goals for the coming year.

The letter, to be sent home to parents, sets as high priorities the educational computing program, implementation of a new mathematics program, centralized maintenance, cable television, the J. Everett Collins Performing Arts Center, discipline, study skills for junior high and high school students, personnel evaluation, evaluation of pilot programs, and the highlighting of positive events in the schools.

In the letter, the committee also promises to complete its 1984-85 budget by Feb. 15, 1984; to "streamline" the business portion of its meetings to leave more time for discussion of educational issues; and to report to the community on its progress in meeting goals each quarter.

Andover Education Association President Stephen Jankauskus commended the committee for the positive "tone" of the letter, which states, "We must continue to encourage our talented staff to be creative. We must emphasize the positive and be optimistic about the future of public school education in Andover."

Arts Center Usage Arouses Concerns

The role of the Andover Endowment for the Arts Committee, Inc., has again been called into question, this time by the School Committee.

The committee was established as an advisory committee on the operation of the new J. Everett Collins Performing Arts Center at Andover High School, and its major role will be to bring performing artists to the center for community performances.

Revenues raised by performances like this month's grand opening Boston Pops concert will be placed in a revolving fund, to help pay for future performances.

With school scheduled to open on Monday, school committee member Donald Robb said Tuesday night that he is "concerned" about community use of the arts center.

"We set out to build an auditorium for the Andover High School," Robb said. "Any use by high school students or high school staff takes precedence over any other use."

The committeeman, who also served on the school building committee, said he was not entirely "comfortable" with the arts committee's role in booking outside events into the auditorium: "We are setting some precedents that have to be looked at very carefully this first year," he said.

Chairman Richard Neal agreed, and pointed out that as a school building, the arts center is under the jurisdiction of the school committee. He noted that the arts committee was not created by the school committee, but was "established elsewhere." (It was appointed by the town manager, with the selectmen's approval.)

AHS Principal Mary Jennings said the school is coordinating events with the arts committee, which has set up an office at the high school. She said the school has established a schedule of events for the next nine months to avoid conflicts with community arts performances, and the coordination is "working pretty well so far."

During the summer, the selectmen expressed some concerns about the role of the arts committee; board members questioned the town manager about whether the arts committee would actually be managing the arts center.

Fallen Limb Kills Power

A fallen tree limb was the cause of a power failure that lasted for more than two hours Saturday afternoon, shutting down electricity in 1,900 homes in West Andover and Tewksbury.

A spokesman for Massachusetts Electric Company explained Tuesday that the tree limb fell in Tewksbury near the Andover line, damaging power feeder equipment. The damage to the feeders then led to further damage to the equipment substation.

Power was out from approximately 3:55 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. before electric company crews repaired the damage.

State Funds Assist In Improving Mains

State funds totaling more than a half-million dollars will be sent to Andover and Lawrence this fall to repair or replace thousands of feet of under-sized, leaking and corroded water lines.

State Representative Sue Tucker of Andover announced details of the project saying "urgent action" is needed now to avert serious water-pressure problems in the future.

Andover will receive $312,500 from the state's department of environmental quality engineering, Tucker said. Lawrence will receive $356,250.

Repair and replacement work will center on major "transmission lines"—the central, under-street pipes from which hundreds of individual homes and businesses draw their water.

"Many of these central pipes are simply too small (in diameter and thus, capacity) to meet the water demands of the areas they serve," Tucker said. "This, coupled with a build-up of corrosion inside the pipes, causes a considerable reduction in water pressure by the time water reaches the faucets in people's homes and businesses."

Tucker said most of the new state funds will be used to replace deteriorating and under-sized six- and eight-inch diameter lines with larger and more durable 12- and 16-inch diameter lines whose water-carrying capacity is considerably greater.

Other portions of the money will fund repairs and internal cleaning of existing waterlines.

While the state funding represents a considerable step toward solving future water distribution problems, Tucker said it is only half the amount requested by the two communities.

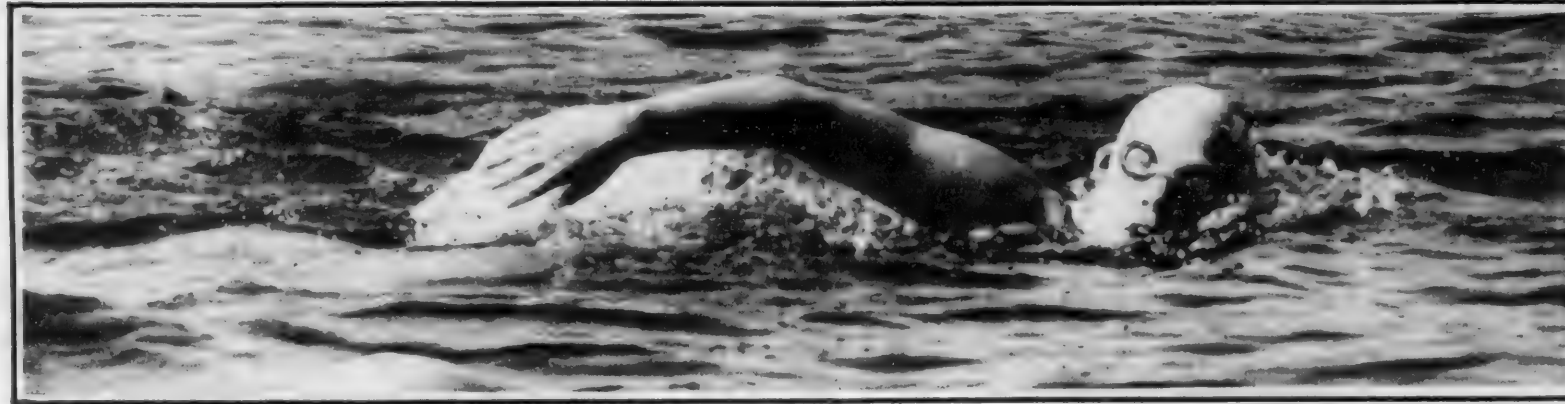

As a result, not all of the specific water projects proposed by Andover and Lawrence will be undertaken. Andover public works officials will have to trim their original list of four proposed projects to probably two.

That original list included: 1. the country club area bounded by Reservation Road and Beacon Street; 2. the Haverhill Street area; 3. the Merrimack College area bounded by Elm Street and Highland Avenue; 4. and the area of Gray Road and Salem Street.

Lawrence's original list of proposed projects, which also will be reduced, included: 1. cleaning and re-lining water pipes in the Broadway Street-Lawrence Street area and installing new fire hydrants in that area as well; 2. replacing water lines in the Davis Street area; 3. replacing lines in the Mount Vernon Street area; 4. and repairing the South Street pumping station for use in boosting water pressure.

Training Times Three

Andover athletes have been hard at work all summer, adding two workouts to their usual favorite, training for the grueling triathlon competition, sponsored by the Greater Lawrence YMCA. The event takes place Sunday at Captain's Pond, Salem, N.H. Over 250 people will compete in the 1/2 mile swim, 11 mile bike race, and the 4.2 mile run. Competition begins at 9 a.m. Photos clockwise from upper left: Frank Trombly, 16 Balmoral St., will be competing in his first triathlon. A runner for 10 years, Frank competed in this year's Boston Marathon; Abby Robb, 36 York St., is competing in the team entries in the swimming event. Abby swims for the high school and YMCA teams; Abby's teammate, Kara Oliver, 31 Mohawk Road, will be competing in the bike race. Kara bikes regularly to keep in shape for competitive skiing; Tony Natella, 30 Smithshire Estates, will be competing in his fifth triathlon. Tony's strongest event is the bike race; Dolyne Divino, 109 Pine St., will run the final event for Abby and Kara. Dolyne is the co-captain of the high school cross-country team; Competing in her first triathlon is Diane Deluca, 56 Brundrett Ave. A mother of two Diane swims regularly and has been training hard for the other two events. Daughter Kristen, one year, helps her with her running shoes.

Editorial Comment

A Job Well Done

Members of the School Building Committee rightfully toasted success at their meeting a week ago, marking the conclusion of a major municipal project.

Significant is the fact that the project, involving three buildings, was completed on time and within budget.

It has not been an easy task.

Actually, the total project engulfs a time span of over a decade. It has been that long since the town began thinking of replacing the former East Junior High School with a new, updated educational facility.

It was over ten years ago that the town spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on the aging structure just to update such things as wiring and plumbing and do some cosmetic work in order to keep the building within the town's educational plant.

When it was determined that the building no longer satisfied the requirements of a modern secondary educational facility, it set off a series of events which proceeded through a myriad of debates and town meeting voters until ultimately a few years ago, voters overwhelmingly approved a project which would result in a new facility.

While the educational community was frustrated with delays in final approval, the time spent in rehashing various phases of the total project stood the town in good stead in the end.

Initially the town was presented with the idea of constructing a new junior high building alone, and relocating the facility.

To old-time residents of Andover, there were two important points to consider -- what would happen to old Punchard High and what would be the disposition of Memorial Auditorium.

In addition, as the project was discussed at length, there was lingering doubt as to why the old junior high building could not be renovated and updated, rather than going through the expensive agony of an entirely new structure.

Added to these considerations was the interest in an auditorium for the high school, an item dropped from the original construction in the interest of economy and some needed renovation at West Junior High to bring that facility within the confines of a modern educational plant.

All of this was turned over to the building committee which went through considerable discussion of various proposals and presentation to town meeting actions, which sometimes were advisory in nature, until the town, at a heavily attended annual session held at Phillips Academy, finally agreed that the total project would satisfy the town's needs for many years to come.

The action, satisfying to the building committee, also meant that the group had taken on a major task, since it had promised town meeting it would work within the confines of the budget accorded them and produce a good result for the community.

Rising building and other costs compelled the committee to come back to town meeting for additional funds, which, although running through some controversy and questioning, ultimately were granted.

Now the project, with the exception of some loose ends, is completed and on time, as promised.

It was a difficult promise to keep, particularly in these difficult economic times, as well as dealing with contractor problems which usually occur on such an undertaking.

It seems fitting that the Boston Pops will open the performing arts center at the high school as the last part of the project.

In some ways the appearance of the world-famous Boston institution should underscore the excellent work performed by a group of dedicated Andover residents who have labored these many years under the label School Building Committee.

Coming Attractions

The following is a brief synopsis of the titles which will be featured on Beacon Hill this fall. All issues rate **** four stars for their impact on future life in the Commonwealth as well as their potential for political fireworks.

**** RIGHT TO KNOW — The bill which would give workers and the community at large the right to know about hazardous materials in the workplace. Labor, industry leaders and environmentalists have been negotiating for months in an attempt to draft a compromise bill which protects the worker and the public without imposing undue costs and bureaucratic red tape. The fact that two Right To Know initiative petitions will be on the ballot if the Legislature fails to act virtually insures action on the matter this fall. A "yes" vote here.

**** EDUCATION IN MASSACHUSETTS — The official Massachusetts answer to all the recent national studies on the status of our schools. A report covering curriculum, testing, technology, teachers' salaries and training, plus recommendations on how to pay for all of it, will be issued in December. The fireworks won't begin until specific proposals are introduced. I am a member of this "study," so look for future articles on our progress.

**** HOUSING — S2034 provides grants, loans and innovative financing to stimulate construction of several thousand units of housing, half of which would be produced by the private market. This bill is a top priority for senior citizens, urban areas and those determined to attack the problem of homelessness in Massachusetts. A "yes" vote here.

**** PENSION REFORM AND FUNDING — A major new plan for addressing this critical fiscal issue will be unveiled this fall.

**** LOW-LEVEL RADIOACTIVE WASTE DISPOSAL — Decision time is running out; do we join a regional compact or go it alone as a state? Congress has mandated that all states not in a "compact" by 1986 must dispose of their own low-level radioactive waste. Most agree that regional disposal is the most fiscally and environmentally sound approach. However, critics maintain that Massachusetts would be a prime candidate to host the disposal site because, as a state, we produce large quantities of such waste (from medical research, technology and power generation). Legal battles presently center on the degree of control a host state can exercise over siting, safety and environmental standards.

Tax issues are likely to be back-burner this fall while an important new TAX REFORM COMMISSION dissects the total tax structure in this state in preparation for a 1984 overhaul.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — September 1908

On Sunday, September 12, the last communion service will be held in the old Free church. This will also be the last Sunday service, as on the following Sunday services will be held in the new edifice. The bell of the old church on Railroad street was removed to the new edifice on Elm street this week.

Although the reorganized Andover Cricket Club failed to win the championship of the Merrimack Valley League, they made a most creditable showing for a team of young players and were only beaten out of the win by one of the best teams in the State. There is still room in Andover for this oldest athletic organization.

The Townsman today publishes a list of the heaviest taxpayers in town and the readers will be interested to compare the list with that of last year. Smith & Dove Manufacturing company as usual contributed the largest amount, $7035.45, an increase of $1573.90 over last year. The next heaviest taxpayers are Tyer Rubber company with $2550.00 and M.T. Stevens Sons company with $2505.80.

50 Years Ago — September 1933

A vote to contact the State Department of Public Works in connection with rebuilding Lowell street was taken at the regular meeting of the James Otis Club held last Monday evening in the Osgood school. The next meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 11, when it is expected some information regarding Lowell street will be on hand. All persons interested in the project are welcome.

The gypsy bands which have occupied a camp site on the Reading road for the last few months were finally ordered out last Friday, as the result of an investigation of conditions about the site by local health and police officials last Friday morning. The evacuation order was given as effective Monday. The bands immediately went to Lawrence and located on Common, Valley, Elm and other streets in the city.

The hot lunch program will resume Monday, Sept. 12, at 12:45 p.m. at the Doherty Junior High School. Reservations must be made before 9:30 the morning of the 12th and can be made today or tomorrow. The center phones are manned from 8:30 a.m. each morning, so you can make your daily reservation well before the 9:30 a.m. deadline. As was last year, the lunch will cost only 50¢, but you must reserve your place.

You should have received your copy of the center newsletter in the mail. And you should note that you are requested to help decide which theater tickets you would like the center to procure. The list of plays coming to Boston are all listed, with details, to help you vote for the ones you'd like to see. But, then you have to put that vote into action by telephoning the center to let them know your choices. Your cooperation is urgently solicited.

The newsletter also includes a list of classes to resume shortly at The Haven. Registration day is September 14 and classes begin September 26, unless otherwise noted. Fees must be paid by check. No cash is handled at the center.

Tickets are available for the September 21 performance of "Porgy and Bess." This is a rare treat—held at the newly refurbished Wang Center. The price of $23 includes orchestra seats and transportation. This spectacular comes to Boston from a successful run at Radio City Music Hall. You won't want to miss this classic.

There are still a couple of seats left for the Eastern States Exposition trip September 22. This annual fair is New England's largest state fair. You'll love it. Cost for transportation and admission is only $15.

other costs at your discretion.

Tickets are also available at The Haven for the November 2 performance of "Master Harold... and the Boys." The recipient of rave notices from the New York Press, it is also the winner of the Drama Desk and Outer Critic's Circle Awards and Best Play of 1982. Off-street parking funds, appropriated in other years and carried over for use by the Selectmen, may not be used to straighten out a section of Rogers Brook in the middle of a proposed parking area on the west side of Main street. Nor can the money be used to lease the land from its owners. This ruling of Town Counsel Vincent Stulgis was relayed to disappointed merchants at a general meeting last Friday morning by Selectman Sidney P. White.

The state fire marshal continued his investigation this week of the destructive fire that caused $100,000 worth of damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiernan on West Knoll road Saturday morning. Eight firefighters were taken to Lawrence General Hospital as a result of the fire.

A special town meeting has been called for Monday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium. A quick check of official town boards Tuesday indicated that zoning may be the biggest question at the meeting. Already one zoning request — from the Co-Op, has been filed. The Co-Op asks to have land along Chestnut street zoned for business — actually this article is in substance a repetition of one approved at town meeting last March.

10 Years Ago — September 1973

The Board of Selectmen Monday night gave a reluctant but unanimous okay to sending low-flying aircraft over Andover this week with a special sting — a low density malathion. Their aim was to wipe out another airborne culprit — the Aedis Solitons mosquito carrying the deadly virus of equine encephalitis. The request for spraying was passed along from the state by Robert A. Walsh, chairman of the Andover Board of Health. Walsh said the mosquito situation was "now critical."

The school bells rang out for 601 youngsters at Doherty School only two days late and in what Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert called "one of the smoothest openings of a basically new school I've seen." He also expressed high hopes that Shawsheen School would open next Monday. The decision hinges on a special tour of the renovation progress at the school today by members of the School Committee.

The Board of Selectmen Monday night asked Endrock Associates (Raytheon) to turn off 15 tanks of hydrogen gas at their Lowell street plant, until the selectmen decided whether or not to issue a license allowing the tanks. The unanimous decision was made after the selectmen learned that the tanks had been used without license in a Raytheon heat-treating process for more than two years.

The availability of new equipment has given rise to a new component of the modern kitchen, the quick-cooking center. Set apart from the major cooking area, this smaller space can include a micro-wave oven and a whole array of small plug-in appliances. It may even contain a small sink for easy clean-up. Such a self-contained space allows for the preparation of snacks or auxiliary dishes without interference with the main food preparation area. It may include a countertop with a "pass-through" to facilitate serving. The quick-cooking center allows children to see to their own needs with a minimum of disruption to the central task of the entire kitchen.

There is so much that is new for the kitchen but is your kitchen ready to handle all these renovations? Our experts here at WINDSOR KITCHENS can make your decision easier and we can design and install a kitchen to accommodate any space or shape. # Warrior Gridders Have Exciting Potential

By Rick Harrison

With outstanding speed in the offensive backfield and proven excellence in the kicking game, the 1983 Andover High football team should once again be one of the most explosive and potentially exciting members of the highly-competitive Merrimack Valley Conference.

Veteran Head Coach Dick Collins, beginning his silver anniversary season at the Golden Warriors' helm, greeted 85 candidates as double sessions opened on Monday, Aug. 29.

Collins launches this landmark 25th year with five offensive starters and one defensive frontliner back from last fall's 6-4-0 squad.

In addition to those mainstays, AHS also boasts a dozen returning lettermen who saw considerable varsity time in 1982.

After a week of double session workouts, highlighted by a spirited intra-squad scrimmage last Thursday, the Warriors spent the Labor Day holiday weekend hard at work in scrimmages against Greater-Lowell Regional and neighboring North Andover High.

Pre-season preparations will continue with a home scrimmage against Bay State League member Wellesley High this Saturday morning, while the MVC opener is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 17, against Lawrence High at the Lancers' Veterans' Stadium (1:30 p.m. kickoff).

Personnel

Collins feels he lost four key performers from last year's team, the valuable graduates being split end-safety E.J. Perry (now at Colby College), All-Conference lineman John McLeHann (Bridgewater State), two-way tackle Mike Sanchez (UMass-Amherst) and quarterback Joe Keefe.

The returning offensive starters are senior split end Mark Grams (5'8", 150 lbs.), senior halfback Pete Comeau (5'8", 155 lbs.), senior guard and co-captain Mike Griffin (5'9", 160 lbs.), senior tackle Mike Gibson (6', 185 lbs.) and the senior center tandem of Mark Lahoud (5'8", 155 lbs.) and Mike Surette (6', 180 lbs.) who alternated in the middle last fall.

On defense the lone starter is aggressive senior linebacker Bill Donovan (5'10", 184 lbs.), affectionately known as "Mad Dog" to his teammates.

Co-Captain Donovan will double as an offensive guard this year and Collins looks for him to be the catalyst on defense.

Joining the fleet-footed Comeau in the backfield will be senior halfback Bob Stabile (5'10", 175 lbs.) and senior fullback Mark Nardone (6'1", 190 lbs.) while junior John Barry (6'1", 175 lbs.) and senior Eric Fitzpatrick (5'7", 170 lbs.) should also log plenty of varsity time at fullback and halfback, respectively.

Nardone doubles as a linebacker and Barry is also a defensive end.

Andover opponents may also have to contend with senior Ian Dowe (6'4", 220 lbs.) in the backfield. Dowe will definitely start at a defensive tackle position while his status as a running back will depend on his pre-season progress.

The quarterback job is still up for grabs with two seniors, a junior and a sophomore all in the running to succeed Joe Keefe.

AHS has been blessed with a long line of superb signal-callers including Kent Warner, Scott Seero, Jef Winters, Bill Alexander, Dan Welch, Manny Silva, Tom Walsh and Keefe.

The inside track this year belongs to seniors Ralph Dellatto (5'9", 160 lbs.) and Chris Scarpa (5'10", 160 lbs.). Both dressed varsity last season with Dellatto seeing considerable action against Haverhill.

However, also in contention at QB are junior Shane Smith (6', 170 lbs.) and sophomore Tim Perry (6'1", 165 lbs.), both of whom showed well in the Greater-Lowell scrimmage.

Senior Charlie Ziegenbein (5'11", 165 lbs.) figures in the plans both as a split end and cornerback, senior Glen Markey (6', 165 lbs.) has looked good both at offensive and defensive end, and senior Grant VanAken (5'10", 170 lbs.) has a good shot at a starting tackle spot.

Gridders

Other outstanding senior gridders are defensive secondary specialist Billy Vickers (6', 165 lbs.), split end-defensive back Larry Cuddy (5'10", 165 lbs.) who transferred from Governor Dummer Academy last year, and two-way end Kevin Byrne (5'10", 165 lbs.).

Although it is rare for Collins to start a sophomore, he has a half-dozen 10th graders who could work their way into backup roles before the season is over.

Besides Perry, who doubles as a defensive back, other sophs with promise are defensive lineman Mark Polakow (5'9", 162 lbs.), tackle Joe Jarek (5'10", 180 lbs.) and running backs Rob DiTroia (5'8", 145 lbs.), Rob Nelson (5'6", 160 lbs.) and Eric Friedenson (5'6", 165 lbs.).

"We have an impressive group of sophomores," noted Collins. "Polakow is actually a contender for a starting job. Perry has great potential but lacks experience and the three running backs are all quick and tough."

Kicking

The Golden Warriors' kicking game should be without equal in the conference and it could mean the difference between a win or loss in any close games this fall.

Nardone was the All-Conference punter and Ziegenbein the All-Conference placekicker last year.

Nardone averaged 39.2 yards per punt in 1982 and also did the kicking off for AHS, while Ziegenbein's educated toe was responsible for three Andover victories as he booted the winning conversion in a pair of 7-6 games and split the uprights with the deciding fieldgoal in a 10-7 triumph over perennial power Tewksbury.

"Nardone is a great punter," lauded Collins. "I don't pay much attention to his distance or average. What makes Mark so effective and so invaluable is his ability to scramble under pressure and his uncanny accuracy."

"Last year he chased down three high center snaps and still kicked us out of trouble, and he was great at dropping the ball inside the other team's five-yard line. Those are the things that make an outstanding punter."

"We also have excellent depth in the kicking game," continued Collins. "Billy Vickers would be the starting punter on 90 percent of the teams in the state, and Craig Hammond would be the No. 1 placekicker on most teams. It's nice to have back-up people with that kind of talent."

"Of course, there's more to the kicking game than the kicker (snapper, holder, blockers, etc.), but I think we'll be very good in those areas too," added Collins.

Speed

The coach also feels he has one of his best backfields in some time, and that could produce and uncharacteristic balance between the air and ground attacks this fall.

"We do have tremendous team speed," emphasized Collins. "Comeau was the State All-Class hurdles champ last spring. Stabile as third in the hurdles at the class meet, Barry ran on our (outdoor track) sprint relay team, Grams was the top man during the winter in the 50 yard dash and Dowe is the Class B 100 yard dash champion."

Of course, no matter how good the wheels are, you still need someone blocking up front.

"We're small in the line once again," admitted Collins. "Except for Dowe we only average about 170 pounds per man n both lines, but this year we do have some experience up front."

Scrimmages

As is the case with all scrimmages, there were pluses and minuses when the Golden Warriors locked horns with Greater-Lowell Regional at Lovely Field and North Andover at the Scarlet Knights' gridiron.

Greater-Lowell, a former MVC member now in the Commonwealth Athletic Conference, is several divisions below Andover. The Gryphons are fresh off a 6-4-0 season in which they won the final five games.

"It's a good scrimmage for both schools," explained Collins. "We keep our top 15 players out, which makes it a very competitive workout and we're able to look at all our young players and make a lot of evaluations."

"They ended up outscoring us (four touchdowns to three), but I thought we played them even when our best kids were in there. We subbed more than they did, but it's still the best Greater-Lowell team I've seen in three to four years."

Collins was specially pleased with the passing game, citing both Smith and Perry, while Markey and Driscoll made some acrobatic catches. Mark Polakow also played well in the scrimmage.

The North Andover scrimmage, held in 90 degree heat, was run under game conditions except that there was no rushing the punter and no punt returns.

"We got a couple of long touchdown runs off," commented Collins. "Our experiment with Ian Dowe at running back produced a 65 yard TD run and Bobby Stabile also broke one."

"We weren't too pleased with the passing game, however. We missed connections on a couple of wide open opportunities, so offensively it was a case of mixed reactions."

"Defensively, I thought we played well, for the most part, although there were a few missed assignments. North Andover runs the Veer option, which takes a lot of preparation to defend against, and we mis-read the option several times."

"But, the kids were hitting well, sticking hard and kids like Donovan, Gibson (defensive end) and Dowe were all over the field making tackles," related Collins.

Injuries

With the exception of the normal pre-season bumps and bruises, AHS has just one player sidelined by injury.

Senior Ed Hardy, projected as a possible starter in the defensive secondary and a quarterback as well, was accidentally struck by a golf cart at Indian Ridge recently.

The result was a knee injury and he's expected to be out for a month.

Conference

Once again the MVC race should be tight, and it's almost impossible to pick a favorite.

"Going strictly by what teams have coming back from last year, I'd say Dracut would have to be one of the favorites," offered Collins.

"Central Catholic should be strong as well, especially with (Tim) Hickey at running back. But, you also know Tewksbury will be outstanding, along with Wilmington, and Lowell has a lot of backfield people returning."

"You can't discount Methuen (defending champ at 9-0-1 last fall) and I'm sure (new coach Mike) Esposito will do a fine job at Billerica."

"There simply are no weak teams in this league."

Andover once again will not play Chelmsford this season, and the Lions will also be hard to beat with 145 candidates and the return of Head Coach Tom Caito after two years in Florida and New Jersey.

Coaching Staff

The Golden Warriors' coaching staff remains practically the same, although volunteer Bob Strout has been lost to North Reading.

Dick Bourdelais is responsible for the linemen, Bill Vickers coaches the offensive backfield and defensive secondary, and Glen Alsop works with the ends and doubles as team trainer.

Warrior Booters Feel Crown Within Reach

By She Livermore

Andover High School's varsity soccer team will open the 1983 season away against cross-town rivals Greater Lawrence Technical School on Wednesday, Sept. 14, at 3:30 p.m.

The defending Merrimack Valley Conference champions hope to win their fourth straight MVC title this year and try again for that elusive state title. Coach Dave Amundsen feels that "a fourth crown is within reach if the team lives up to its potential."

Only eight players remain from last year's championship team, 16 having been lost to graduation. There are two returning starters. Tri-captains Jim Denoncourt and David Keene.

Strong performances are also expected from Paul Hevehan who scored six goals as a sophomore last year and Tri-captain Hai Dang who has changed his position to sweeper-back and played very well in pre-season scrimmages.

Also returning from last year's championship team are Nick Bates, Glenn Livermore and Peter Surrette.

The goalkeeper position is currently being contested by Brian Sheehy, last year's backup goalkeeper, and Walter Pitts, J.V. goalkeeper last year.

Up from the J.V. team and expected to do very well are Sean Burns, Dave Casanave, John Drake, Jeff Kennedy, Steve McDowell, Scott McNamara, Mark Perowski and Gage Perry.

Joining the Warrior Booters is Zack Apgar who is expected to see front line action.

Rounding out the team are sophomores Barry Tucker from East Junior High and Scott Wilkins from West Junior High, both of whom will be experiencing some valuable varsity play this year.

The Warrior Booters have done very well in pre-season scrimmages. They tied Alverine High School, Hudson, N.H. 3-3, beat Lexington 3-1 and held Lynn English, last year's defending northeast champions, to a 0-0 tie. In the Labor Day heat, they dropped a 3-2 decision to Wakefield.

Coach Amundsen indicated that he expects the competition to be closer in the Merrimack Valley conference this year as the league will be much better balanced. Last year's top teams, Andover and Tewksbury, both graduated a large number of seniors, 16 and 13, respectively, while the next four teams to finish did not graduate many important players.

This will make for much more intense competition and Andover's varsity team is aware that many teams will still be pointing at them as the team to beat.

Next week's TOWNSMAN will include the 1983 game schedule and more information about the team.

Hoehn Takes County Title

Ted Hoehn of Jeffersonville VT. won the Essex County tennis championship for the fifth time at the North Andover Country Club, defeating Chris Post, formerly of Andover, now of Natick 4-6, 6-0, 6-1. Both are former top ranked in New England tennis ratings. This was the third time they had met in the finals of this tournament, the result always the same. Post had been champion in 1979 and 1982 with Hoehn champion in 1972, 1974, 1976, 1978 and 1983.

Chris Dyer of West Parish Road lost to Scott Greene of Beverly 6-2, 6-3. Greene later lost to Hoehn. There were no other Andover competitors in singles. John Niceforo of North Andover gained a semifinal berth, losing a close 7-5, 5-6 match to Hoehn.

The doubles in this three-day men's singles and doubles tournament produced some exciting play with Niceforo and his partner Bill Cashman of Madison, CT, becoming champions by defeating the 1982 title holders Dave Woods of Providence, R.I., and Charlie Osborn, of Pawtucket, R.I., 6-3, 6-4. All four players hit with great force throughout as well as scrambling for every point with good court covering abilities and it was a very slightly lower error percentage which allowed the winners their victory.

In semifinals, Wood and Osborn defeated the McKinley brothers, Bob of Melrose and Dick of Wellesley, 6-4, 6-0, and Cashman and Niceforo defeated Bill Busiek of Wilmington and Bob Mailey of Woburn 6-1, 6-4. Jeff Riotte of High Plain Road showed very credibly with long-time partner Bob Bleicki of North Andover, but lost a close on to 1982 champions 6-2, 7-5.

Tom and Bill Rockwell of North Andover and Bob Stewart of Wellesley served as tournament managers.

Newcomers Join Merrimack Staff

A new head baseball coach, assistants in hockey and men's basketball and a director of intramural programs have all accepted positions at Merrimack College for the 1983-84 year, Merrimack Athletic Director Robert DeGregorio, Jr. has announced.

Edward P. Morrison, Jr., junior varsity baseball coach at Winthrop High School for the past 13 seasons, is Merrimack's new head baseball coach, replacing Jim Licciardi who resigned this past summer. Bill Herrion, a Merrimack alumnus and former guard on the Warriors' basketball team from 1979-81, is the new assistant men's basketball coach, replacing Don Doucette who left last spring to become head basketball coach at the University of Lowell.

Jay Leach, a former minor league hockey player and a head coach at Choate-Rosemary Hall, is the new men's ice hockey assistant, replacing Ron Anderson who has moved into the head coach slot. Robert "Ro" Walsh, another Merrimack alumnus, has returned to his alma mater to take a position as director of intramural programs and equipment manager.

"We think these appointments strengthen our athletic department all-around," commented DeGregorio. "They're all top-notch people."

Morrison inherits, perhaps, the most difficult assignment in taking the reins of the Merrimack baseball team. The club has experienced just one winning season since 1979. Morrison's record at Winthrop the past seven years with the JV club is an impressive 86-33, including two first place and three second place finishes. Also an assistant football coach at Winthrop High where he teaches history, Morrison is a 1970 graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. He lives with his wife, Debbie, and their two children in Peabody.

Herrion was a regular in the Merrimack backcourt for two seasons, including his senior year (1980-81) under then first-year head coach Bert Hammel. Primarily a point guard, he was a starter under head coach Frank Monahan in 1979-80 and continued as a key player during Hammel's rookie season as head coach. Since graduating with a B.A. in history in 1981, Herrion has been an assistant men's basketball coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. The team's two-year record while Herrion was there was an impressive 29-21, including a 15-10 slate last season. Herrion lives in Worcester and has worked numerous basketball camps, including the Notre Dame and Merrimack College basketball camps this past summer.

Leach is a former standout collegiate hockey player at the University of New Haven from where he was graduated in 1977. He was a four-year letter winner at UNH and a three-year captain. Upon leaving college, Leach became head hockey coach at Choate-Rosemary Hall in Wallingford, CT, for two years before lacing up the skates again to try minor league hockey. Playing primarily in the Quebec Nordiques system, Leach skated at forward for the Erie Blades, Syracuse Firebirds, Nashville Southstars and Milwaukee Admirals for the three seasons (1979-81). He lives in Winchester.

Babe Ruth Tryouts Scheduled

The Andover Blue and Gold Babe Ruth baseball teams will hold their annual Fall tryouts on consecutive Sunday afternoons, Sept. 18 and 25, at the Doherty Junior High field.

Both sessions will run from 1 p.m. to approximately 5 p.m.

All 13-year-old candidates should report to the field at 1 p.m. both days, while all 14 and 15-year-old candidates should report at 3 p.m. both days.

All youngsters between the ages of 13 and 15 years are eligible, provided they will not turn 16 prior to August 1, 1984.

All 15 positions on both teams are open, and both the Blue and Gold squads will have to fill vacancies left by three players who have moved out of town.

Both teams compete in the Greater-Lawrence Babe Ruth League against teams from North Andover and Lawrence. There is also a strong possibility that Chelmsford and Tewksbury will join the league next summer.

Andover Gold swept both the regular season and playoff championships in 1981 and 1982, compiling a 50-6 record during that time, and this past summer Gold finished one game out of first place at 13-8 overall.

Andover Blue was 11-10 this year and battled to the championship round of the playoffs, dropping a tough 3-2 decision to North Andover.

Players from the Gold and Blue teams then joined forces on three Greater-Lawrence All-Star teams. The three teams played 16 games in the Saugus and Waltham Tournaments, reaching the championship round in two divisions and the semifinals in another division.

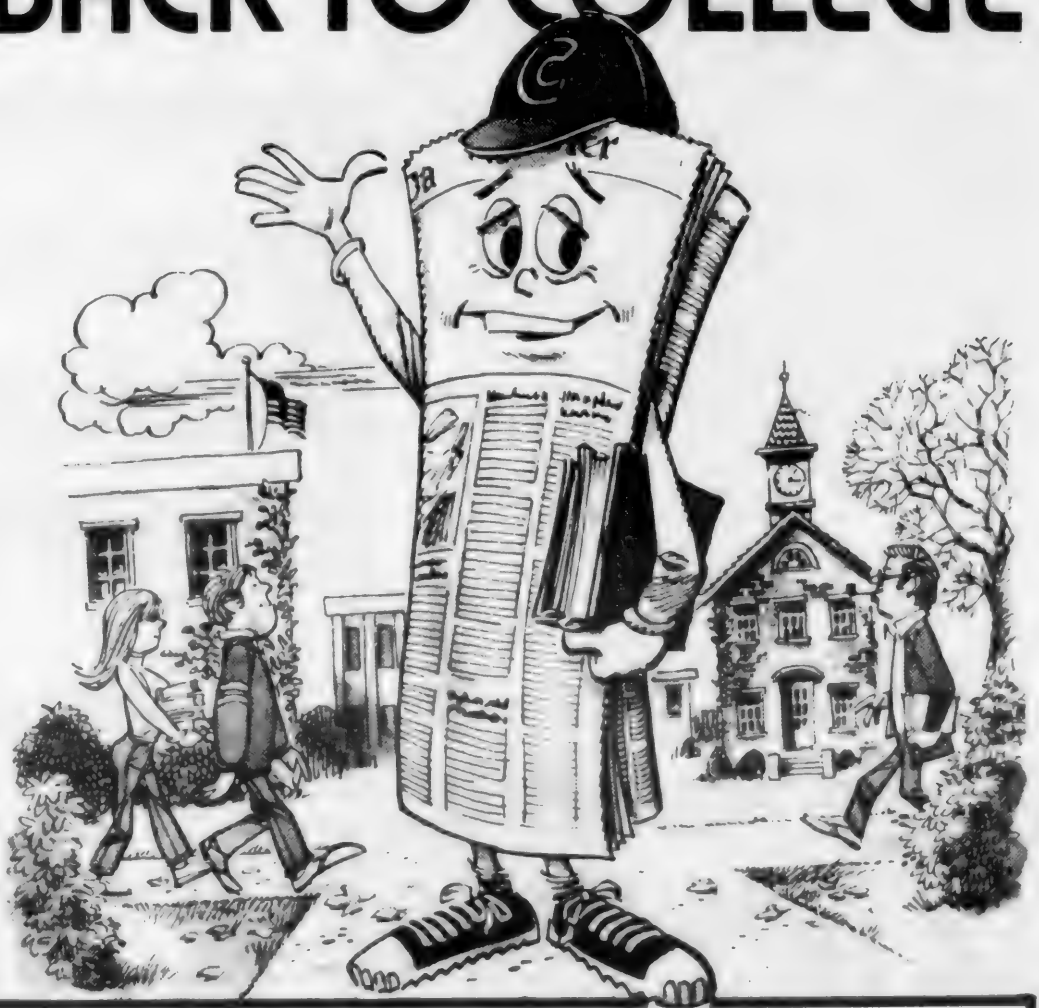

Several of the players on both teams participated in almost 40 games this summer.

The world's oldest amateur golf tournament is the British Amateur Golf Championship. It has existed since 1885.

There are an estimated 52 million dogs and 36 million cats in the U.S.

Walsh was captain of the infamous 1975-76 basketball team that finished 21-8 and included Merrimack's all-time leading scorer Ed Murphy. Walsh was also the team captain or co-captain the two previous seasons and he was selected the team's MVP his sophomore year. Walsh lives in Andover with his wife and daughter.

Train-Stop Toys - Handcrafted Toys For All Ages

Surprise someone special with a beautifully handcrafted toy or game from Train-Stop Toys. Train-Stop Toys, 2 Railroad Avenue, Andover, has an extensive and wonderful array of toys and games for all ages.

Specializing in handcrafted toys and games from local as well as New England and European artisans, Train-Stop Toys has now expanded their line of locally crafted items and encourages local crafts people to bring in samples of their work.

In fact, Train-Stop Toys is growing so much that as of October 31 the new and nearly new consignment shop annex is closing because Train-Stop Toys needs the additional space.

At Train-Stop Toys there's so much from which to choose! You'll find everything from irresistible crib gyms and mobiles for infants to sturdy wooden trucks that toddlers and older children can ride. There are wagons, choo-choo trains (you can collect the cars to build an entire set), hobby horses, pull toys and so much more.

There's the new complete line of various size beveled edged blocks, colored blocks, learning blocks and even large cardboard building blocks.

Looking for a unique gift? How about a colorful, handmade boomerwing. Crafted by a man from Nashua, N.H., the boomerwing is an unusual type of boomerangit circles, double circles and then comes back to you. No motors, strings or fancy tricksthe forward thrust of your hand as you throw operates the boomerwing. And each boomerwing has its own unique flight pattern.

Train-Stop Toys now carries a beautiful line of large scale, hand painted doll furniture. Lovely stenciling enhances everything from the wooden porch swing, the vanity, coat rack and bed to the wardrobe mirror. Buy the entire set or just collect one piece at a time.

If puzzles are your interest, Train-Stop Toys has just expanded their line of puzzles. For that special child just learning to read, there's a wooden alphabet puzzle or even a puzzle with wooden letters that spell the child's name, plus many more.

Why not stop into Train-Stop Toys soon for a special gift for that special person of any age. Train-Stop Toys has something for everyone you just have to see it for yourself! (If you find there's too much from which to choose, gift certificates are available). Open Mon.-Sat. 10-5. Tel. 470-2761.

Pro Cycles - For People Who Are Serious About Cycling

Whether you prefer fast-paced racing, leisurely touring or economical commuting on your bike, Pro Cycles, 5A Lupine Road in Andover, is the place for all your bicycling needs.

Basically a frame shop for custom racing and touring bikes, owner Peter Berberian carries fifteen brands of frames including Eddy Merckx, Gios, Dawes and Pinarello. If there's a brand you prefer but Pro Cycles doesn't carry, just ask Peter. He will order specially almost anything to please his customers.

But Pro Cycles doesn't stop with frames. They carry all components for wheel building from hubs and spokes to guages and rims to tires. For traveling on rough terrain, a heat treated rim is preferred; for smooth roads, the lighter the wheel the better.

Depending upon how you use your bike (racing or touring) and what you expect from it, you would need different tires. There's a tire to fit your needs!

If you enjoy touring on your bike, the fall in New England is the time to do it. Riding down back country roads on a crisp fall day catching sight of all the vibrant leaves is the perfect way to spend an autumn day. If you prefer the excitement of racing, there are always plenty of races.

Need someone to to bike with? Inside Pro Cycles there's a board where you can post a notice for someone to ride with or race against and be sure you always watch the board for race notices.

And to get your bike into tip top condition - whether you'll be racing or touring - remember, Pro Cycles can give your bike a tuneup, replacing cables, wheel truing (aligning) and doing general adjustments. Then you'll be all set to enjoy the fall.

So why not consider Pro Cycles for all your cycling needs. Open Tuesday through Saturday 9:30 a.m.-5 p.m. Call 470-2991. Visa and Mastercard accepted

Hartford Corp. Will Acquire Arlington Trust Of Lawrence

Daniel J. Murphy, Jr., chairman, and Daniel J. Murphy, III, president of Arltru Bancorporation, announced recently that a definitive agreement has been approved by its board of directors and signed, under which Hartford National Corporation will acquire Arltru Bancorporation.

Arltru, with headquarters in Lawrence, is the holding company for Arlington Trust Company.

Under the terms of the agreement, Hartford National will exchange 2.46 shares of Hartford National common stock for each of the approximately 555,000 shares of Arltru common stock and book value common stock expected to be outstanding at the closing, in a transaction intended to be tax free to the stockholders of Arltru. Based upon the closing bid price of $36-7/8 per Hartford National share on August 31, the transaction has an indicated value of approximately $50 million.

Daniel J. Murphy, III, will continue to serve as president and chief executive officer of Arltru Bancorporation, which will retain its name and operate as a subsidiary of Hartford National Corporation.

As part of the transaction, Hartford National has obtained agreements from holders of approximately 46 percent of the Arltru common stock to vote in favor of the Hartford National Corporation acquisition.

It is expected that Daniel J. Murphy, Jr., Daniel J. Murphy, III, and Gary M. Cypres, senior vice president and chief financial officer of The Signal Companies, Inc. and presently a director of Arltru, will serve on the Hartford National board of directors.

Arlington Trust president Murphy said, "The management of Arlington Trust looks forward to joining the Hartford National organization. This combination will allow us to bring an even broader range of services to our marketplace."

Robert L. Newell, chairman and chief executive officer of Hartford National, said, "The combination is a further step in Hartford National Corporation's strategy to acquire financially sound and well managed banking organizations that emphasize consumer and commercial banking."

In 1982 Hartford National Corporation completed the merger of the Hartford National and Connecticut National banks to form the new Connecticut National Bank, the principal subsidiary of Hartford National Corporation. Earlier this year

Hartford National Corporation acquired Mattatuck Bank and Trust Company of Waterbury, making Hartford National Corporation the only bank holding company in Connecticut with offices serving all six major metropolitan areas in the state.

As of June 30 Hartford National had an equity capital base of $229 million and assets of $4.4 billion. For the first six months of 1983, Hartford National earned $17.5 million or $2.80 a share, compared to net earnings of $12.8 million or $2.27 per share for the first half of 1982.

As of June 30 Arltru had an equity capital base of $35 million and assets of $782 million. For the first six months of 1983, Arltru had earnings of $3.2 million compared to earnings of $2.4 million for the first six months of 1982.

Completion of the transaction is subject to approval by federal and state regulatory authorities, as well as holders of two-thirds of the Arltru common stock and book value common stock, voting as separate classes.

Under the terms of the agreement, if the transaction is consummated after February 29, 1984, but before April 1, 1984, the board of directors of Arltru Bancorporation is permitted to declare dividends in an amount not to exceed the dividends the Arltru shareholders would have received on Hartford National Corporation common stock had they been shareholders of record since January 1, 1984. If the transaction is consummated on or after April 1, 1984, the board of directors of Arltru is permitted to declare dividends in an amount not to exceed the dividends the Arltru shareholders would have received had they been Hartford National shareholders since September 1, 1983. Hartford National Corporation presently has a dividend rate of $2 per year on each share of its common stock (which is $4.92 on 2.46 shares) and Arltru presently has a dividend rate of $1.40 per year on each share of its common stock.

To Coach Women's Teams At Salem

Joe Sweeney of Andover has been appointed head coach of women's varsity tennis and assistant coach of women's varsity swimming for 1983-84 at Salem State College.

During the spring of '83 Sweeney served as a volunteer field coach to the women's tennis team, traveling to Clairemont, Calif., with SSC freshman Colleen Honohan, former all-star at St. Mary's High School in Lawrence to participate in the NCAA Division III Women's Tennis championships.

Sweeney coached four years of tennis at St. Mary's High and has worked extensively at summer camps in Kent, CT, and Bethlehem, N.H., teaching tennis. His responsibility as assistant swimming coach will be coaching the divers.

MARKET VALUE

A way of determining market value goes like this: "The price that one who wishes to buy, but is not compelled to buy, would pay to a seller willing but not compelled to sell." That's a real mouthful, and prompts a remark like: "How's that again?"

This illustrates that market value is a phrase that's bandied about by many people, but if you ask exactly what it means and how to determine it, they're stumped! It's a figure arrived at by weighing a collection of data. Comparable market sales are analyzed and the price for a home is adjusted according to factors such as size, construction, location, and the time the property is on the market. Sounds complicated, doesn't it? It's not something for amateurs to figure out. We, as professionals do it all the time, since the correct market value for a property can make the difference between a quick and profitable sale and a home that stays on the market for a long time. That's because market value IS the price in dollars that a home is estimated to bring.

Fortunately, you don't have to go through all that data. You have a simple and easy way to find out the market value of your home. Just ask us!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

now considering "exterior treatments" for the EJH site, the manager said, including redesigned driveways and walkways for better access to the handicapped, new parking areas and landscaping. Exterior work will not be started until the spring.

Next on the agenda for downtown changes: the parking facility proposed for the Purity Supreme site, which the town plans to buy from Webster and his partner, Robert Finlayson, as approved by annual town meeting.

Mahony said he expected a decision from state officials this week on Andover's request for a $1,115,000 grant to acquire and develop the site (the project will require another $600,000 in town funds).

As soon as the state funding comes through, the town will raze the former grocery store building and transfer the title on the land. Town officials plan to pave the site to use for surface parking as soon as possible, and then complete the project in the spring, the manager said.

He added that officials are also discussing with Massachusetts Electric Company the possibility of converting the overhead power lines behind Town Hall to underground lines. That change, coupled with the new parking lot and some new landscaping as well, would make the whole Town Hall area look "100 percent better," Mahony said.

When town and school offices move into EJH, two town buildings will be left vacant: Town Hall and the Shawsheen School. The manager said it is time for the Reuse Committee to "start talking about" the town house.

The possibilities for Town Hall's future include a permanent display by the Historical Society, and a post office, Mahony said.

(Committee member Paul Cronin noted that the latter opened up another interesting question: What would be done with the present post office on Main Street? He said the town should consider acquiring the building from the federal government if it is vacated.)

And the Shawsheen School may yet be needed as a school facility, the manager said. The Community Services department will probably occupy the school until a final use is determined, he added.

Theatre, Telecommunications Among School Innovations

By Sue Aucella Deacon

When they return to the classroom next week, Andover students can look forward to something new to go along with their traditional studies: a taste of both the world of theatre arts, and the "telecommunications revolution."

For not just pencils, textbooks and blackboards await students this year — the J. Everett Collins Performing Arts Center, cable television and microcomputers await them as well.

This year students will see only "the small beginnings of all of these things," Superintendent Kenneth Seifert says. But as these new programs begin to take shape, he believes their "tremendous potential for the students in Andover" will be revealed.

School begins on Monday, Sept. 12 (at 9 a.m. for elementary students, 7:45 a.m. for junior high students and 7:35 a.m. for high school students). However, the grand opening of the arts center will be celebrated on Sept. 25.

And amid all the hoopla — day-long, town-wide festivities topped by a Boston Pops concert — the school superintendent hopes that townspeople will remember that the arts center is, first and foremost, a school facility.

"There's a popular misconception that the center is not under the jurisdiction of the schools. It is," Seifert emphasizes.

"The schools can take as much time in the auditorium as they want — it has not gone over to the town. It is a resource to be used by the schools."

The arts center was designed and built "to double as a community facility," he explains, "and we are achieving that intent. We are really off to an exciting start, with some nationally-known performers scheduled to come in — including the Boston Ballet, a speaker series, summer theatre. That has to reap benefits for the students."

But the "primary purpose" of the Collins center will be to serve as a high school facility, he adds. Just as the Community Services department now schedules schools for community use when the schools are free, the Andover Endowment for the Arts Committee will schedule the arts center for use when it is available.

What will the arts center mean to Andover students? The superintendent believes that the desire to someday perform on its impressive stage is already motivating young singers, musicians, actors and dancers in the elementary schools. "It gives them a fine outlet," he explains.

Older students can look forward to seeing plays they have written performed on that stage, learning to build sets — even operating concession stands during community performances. "It's a fine opportunity," the superintendent says.

Destined to be "intertwined" with the performing arts center, Seifert says: cable television. As part of its package deal with Andover, Rollins Cablevision will build a television studio at the high school. The superintendent is disappointed that the studio will not be ready this month, as originally scheduled, but it is to be completed by the end of December.

Although cablevision will be "getting off to a slow start" this fall, the administrator foresees "a whole range of possibilities" for its future. The studio will become a communications center for students, he says, where they can broadcast student news and other programs. They will learn not only to produce programs and perform in them, but to write scripts and operate cameras as well.

Ideally, Seifert would like to see one full-time staff member devoted to theatre arts and cable television productions. (Currently there is a half-time theatre arts teacher only.) That is, of course, a School Committee budget decision, but the superintendent believes it is "one position we should have."

With funding approved by annual town meeting, computers will make their bow in Andover schools in a major way this year. The administration has tried to structure a program that will work for both those students who have "little or no understanding of how computers work", and those "extremely capable" students who are already creating their own programs.

According to Assistant Superintendent Charles Mitsakos, students at all grade levels will be using the new microcomputers. At the high school, every sophomore will learn word processing as part of their English studies, writing their compositions on the word processor and learning to use the computer as a writing tool. Upperclassman who chose writing electives will also study word processing.

Many students who elect business education courses will work with the computers, learning the business applications for computers, accounting, and office procedures with computers in a "sophisticated word processing package" that simulates a professional environment, Mitsakos says.

And computers will be used in other high school subjects as well, including science and social studies, for the simulation and analysis of data.

At the junior high schools, Mitsakos says, all seventh-graders will learn to use the keyboard as an introduction to formal word processing. They will begin a formal "computer literacy" course as well. In the eighth- and ninth grades, computers will be integrated into basic courses — mathematics and English, for example.

Students at the elementary level will be introduced to computers with "awareness activities" that will include tutorial pro-

Weather, Late Opening Delays Back-To-School Shopping

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Gorgeous late summer weather and a later-than-usual school opening have slowed down the back-to-school shopping rush this year, according to some downtown merchants — and many stores are expecting a busy September to follow a fairly quiet August.

"It hasn't been as frenetic as usual," Pappagallo's owner Vena Coco said last Friday, "but it's been steady. People are enjoying what's left of summer. We anticipate a very busy September when people realize they've put their shopping off."

John Zenevitch of Macartney's agreed: "School is starting later and the bulk of our business is still to come. In this area, people are still away. We anticipate a strong run by next weekend, after Labor Day."

Those customers who have found the motivation to start their shopping have shown "a lot of positive reaction" to Pappagallo's fall merchandise, Ms. Coco said. "People are excited about the change of season and planning a wardrobe."

Shoes have attracted a lot of enthusiasm at the store, which features new colors like amethyst and gray, "very feminine" styles and a range of heel heights. One new footwear trend that's proving very popular is the ankle-high cuffed boot, Ms. Coco said, which shoppers are buying to wear as a shoe.

"That's been selling since early August, which surprised us," she noted, since shoppers usually wait for cooler weather before they start looking at winter boots. "But that's a fashion look, rather than just functional."

And some customers return year after year for comfortable, low-heeled leather shoes, the foundation of a good fall wardrobe, Ms. Coco said.

Pappagallo's shoppers are also attracted to fall felt hats, handknit sweaters — and anything else that speaks of craftsmanship and quality, Ms. Coco said. Shoppers are seeking "a good wool skirt, a good wool blazer, perhaps an Austrian wool jacket, and good wool sweaters."

Coordinating colors and choosing quality are the keys to shopping for the new season, she believes: "If you shop wisely, you can build a wardrobe around three or four items. They can go a long way, if you buy carefully and get the most for your money."

Mary Lou Corey of Russem's said shoppers began coming into that store in late August, and she expects shopping to "pick up a lot" during the next two weeks. "High school girls especially wait until after school begins 'to see what everyone else is wearing,'" she noted. (Peer pressure lives.)

One very popular style at Russem's so far has been the sweater vest or argyle sweater complemented with a wool knitted necktie, which creates something of a "Brideshead Revisited" look.

That's one indication that students are ready to dress up a bit more, and looking for something "a little splashier" than their tried and true Shetlands-and-chinos, Ms. Corey commented. Clothing that's a bit more fitted also seems to be attracting more customers.

With that more polished look in mind, Russem's shoppers are gravitating more toward corduroy pants and skirts than to jeans. And since pant lengths are rising, focusing more attention on legs (or at least ankles), textured and colored tights and knee socks are becoming more important — earth tones are new for fall, as opposed to spring's pastels, Ms. Corey noted.

The compact leather shoulder bags that were popular last year continue to be favored by young shoppers, she added.

At Macartney's, active sportswear like long-sleeved cotton rugby shirts, striped in bright or dark colors with solid collar and cuffs, have been selling well — along with color-coordinated, loose-fitting cotton pants, Mr. Zenevitch said. "The rugby look is exceptionally strong."

This year's sweaters include stripes and bird's-eye patterns (neat-looking all-over flecks of color) as well as the traditional solids and heather tones, he pointed out, with rag wool sweaters particularly strong sellers.

The newer look of 100 percent cotton sweaters is also quite popular among student shoppers, Mr. Zenevitch has found, especially sweaters in stripes and patterns.

But traditional looks are holding strong at Macartney's, where shoppers head for corduroy pants in navy, tan and blue, chinos, and striped shirts with button-down collars that look just as good with a necktie as unbuttoned at the neck.

And the navy blue blazer, "a real classic look, is still number one," Mr. Zenevitch noted. "They can wear it for any and all occasions — dressed up with a shirt and tie, or more casual with a turtleneck and corduroys."

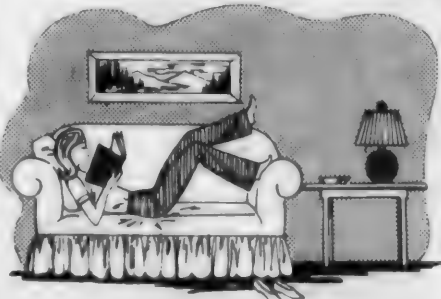

Downstairs in Macartney's ladies department, the college shoppers have already come and gone, Dorothy Graham said, but the high school shoppers are straggling in. They've been looking for activewear, including elastic-waist cotton pants, and cords: "They're buying for comfort."

Cotton sweaters are selling fast; skirts seem to be enjoying "an upswing"; and traditional styles like button-down shirts are as popular as ever at Macartney's.

And, as last year, Tretorns are a huge favorite: The snowy white athletic shoes come with check-mark accents in a range of colors, from bright yellow and green to

School's Open— Drive Carefully

"A responsible driver cannot always expect young children to act appropriately in the traffic environment," stressed David J. Christensen, executive vice president of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley. "It is the motorist who must stay alert and be aware of potentially dangerous situations."

The AAA spokesperson explained why children form such a large part of the accident picture. "The 'dart-out' action—a child suddenly dashing into the street, often at midblock and from between parked vehicles—is the single most common young pedestrian behavior resulting in an accident," he said. "Youngsters may show little or no concern when moving vehicles are near. They simply assume a motorist will see them and act accordingly. In addition, their height, short attention span and natural exuberance are factors that place the major burden of responsibility for safety on the driver."

Christensen pointed out that the first few weeks of school mean greater exposure and thus greater risks for children. "Many of them walk to and from school and some will be doing so for the first time. School zones, bus loading and unloading areas and residential street intersections all demand extra alertness. Remember, a careful driver is the first step to an accident-free school year."

Easing Child's Anxiety About The First Day

Thousands of children are preparing to go back to school. Whether heading for grade school, junior high or high school, they are all about to experience both the excitement and apprehension of new beginnings.

For one group of children—those going to school for the first time—the transition from summertime to schooltime may not be a perfectly smooth one. And the first day or even several days of school for these youngsters may be marked by tears, upset stomachs or cases of "the jitters."

According to Kathryn Tolbert, Ph.D., associate in psychology at The Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston, it is quite normal for first-timers to feel some anxiety about beginning school. "Most often, the anxiety is caused by the fear of being separated from a parent or parents," she says. "Unless they are veterans of day-care or nursery school, it may be the first time that many of these children are spending a large block of time away from home. They may worry about their parents leaving and never coming back for them."

In addition to their own anxiety about starting school, children can sense the fears of others. "We often find that parents have anxiety about sending their children to school," says Dr. Tolbert. "Children have remarkable antennae that tune in to their parents' feelings. If parents are worried children will sense it and become concerned as well."

According to Dr. Tolbert, there are many ways parents can help to prepare a child who is starting school for the first time. Among the most important is that parents "talk about the approaching school days in a positive way. For example," she says, "parents may let their child know how proud they are that he or she is old enough to go to school. Children love to anticipate an event they sense their parents are excited about."

Another way to prepare a child is to reduce the fear of the unknown. By providing as much information about school as possible, a child will feel more comfortable on the first day. A dry-run visit to the school building is one way to help a child imagine what school will be like. "If the school is located in the neighborhood," says Dr. Tolbert, "parents can take a trip to the school with their child. A rehearsal trip to school is also an ideal opportunity to initiate conversation about school activities. Parents can tell their child that school will be a place to meet new friends and learn how to do new things such as read, make numbers and play games," she says.

Parents can also help prepare children for school by changing their youngsters' daily schedule. "Schooltime means more structured activities than children are accustomed to," says Dr. Tolbert. "Beginning about a week before school starts, parents might consider slowly changing the content of their child's days. Earlier bedtimes and more structured and educational activities, such as a trip to a museum, may help the child make an easier transition."

Back-to-school rituals such as shopping for school clothes, shoes or even stationery supplies can help prepare a child for school. "It's not the quantity or price of the purchases that are important," says Dr. Tolbert. "Any small school-related items such as shoelaces, pencils or erasers will help make a child feel that starting school is a special occasion."

Even if school preparations have gone smoothly, and a child seems to be looking forward to starting school, parents should not be surprised if, on the first day, anxiety sets in. Says Dr. Tolbert, "Parents should try to accompany their child to school on the first day, or at least arrange for someone familiar to the child, such as an older sibling or family friend, to do so."

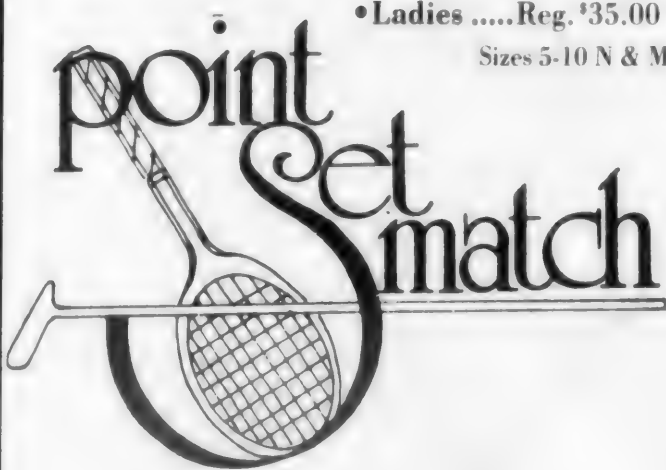

According to Dr. Tolbert, most children who begin school for the first time have anxiety for just a few days. "If parents find that the anxiety lasts much longer, or gets worse each day rather than better, they may consider seeking professional help."

St. Augustine's Ready For Monday Opening

Classes will resume Monday at 9 a.m. for all grades at St. Augustine's School, Central Street. Students should be in the playground ten minutes prior to the bell where all teachers and Brother Thomas Schady, FMS, principal, will greet them.

Parents of kindergartners should have received name tags and letter explaining details of the program this week.

To assist first graders in getting acclimated to their new class, half day sessions are scheduled for the first week of school, Set. 12-16. Children will be dismissed by the School Street exit at 12 noon. Parents are requested to provide their own transportation.

The principal reminds parents that all students are required to be inoculated against mumps and rubella. If record of immunization is not in the child's health folder, it should be forward to Brother Schady as soon as possible.

Different teachers require different stationery needs and school officials feel it advisable not to purchase supplies for children until teachers notify students of their needs.

The hot lunch program will begin on the first day of school.

Brother Schady noted that during the first few days of school parents should be alert for various notices and forms which will be sent home from the school for their attention.

Andover School Bus Code

With the beginning of another school year, parents are urged to instruct their children in the contents of the Andover School Bus Code as adopted by the Andover School Committee.

Students who violate this code, violate the rights of other students on the bus and possibly subject these students to undue safety hazards. Everyone shares equally in the responsibility and safety on the school buses.

Students

1. Only authorized students may ride the bus.
2. Obey the driver in all matters pertaining to the operation of the school bus. The bus driver is the representative of parents and teachers and is directly responsible for the safety of each student on his bus.
3. Exercise courtesy towards others while loading, riding and leaving the bus.
4. Arrive at the bus stop on time and wait for the bus on the curb or shoulder off the road.
5. Cross highways and streets only in front of the bus. Move away from the front bumper of the bus approximately 6-8 feet so the bus driver can observe your crossing. Do not run or dash into street or roads without looking both ways even though the bus driver has traffic stopped.
6. Avoid trespassing on private property and being noisy.

7. Board the bus in an orderly manner when the bus has come to a full stop and the driver has opened the door.

8. Take your seat promptly and, if you must stand, grasp a seat bar firmly.

9. Assignment of seats is left to the discretion of the bus driver and/or school authority. However, if seat assignments are made, compliance is mandatory.

10. Remain seated until the bus comes to a full stop, then leave in an orderly manner.

11. Allow standees off first once the school bus has come to a full stop.

12. DO NOT TALK to the driver while the bus is in motion.

13. Avoid actions that might distract the driver and result in a serious accident.

14. Keep your voice low, no shouting, whistling, rough housing, pushing, fighting or throwing objects.

15. Do not extend arms or any other parts of your body out the windows. Do not throw any objects or spit out the bus windows.

16. Do not smoke on the bus.

17. Ask the driver's permission before opening the windows.

18. Help keep the bus clean and report anything damaged in the bus to the driver. Do not eat or chew gum on the bus.

19. Keep books/bundles out of the aisles and do not carry heavy objects on the bus that might cause injury to other students. If you carry small animals on the bus for school projects, you are responsible for their containment while enroute to and from school.

20. Ride your assigned bus and do not ask the driver to make unauthorized stops unless written permission is received from your parent and agreement is reached between the principal and bus driver.

21. Report any violation of these rules to your bus proctor, the bus driver or your teacher.

22. Violation of the above rules may result in suspension of your bus-riding privilege.

Accident Procedure

1. Keep calm and follow the directions of the bus driver. Stay in your seat until the bus driver tells you what action to take.

A. Do not touch any emergency equipment until told by the driver.

B. In case of fire, leave the bus in an orderly manner and move to the nearest phone.

2. If the driver is injured and unable to move, notify the nearest adult or contact the police or fire department on the nearest phone.

3. Report any injuries to yourself or other students to the driver.

Parents

1. Instruct children on the content of the bus code.

grams and instructional games ("not Pac-Man," Mitsakos notes). Third- and fourth-graders will learn Logo, a "user friendly" programming language; fifth- and sixth-graders will begin a formal literacy program.

"We are constantly evaluating new software that can be integrated into the program," the assistant superintendent says. Throughout the schools, computers will be seen as a teaching tool, a career possibility for students, a technical skill to be mastered — and as a "social force."

The elementary school mathematics program will also be new this year, Seifert says, and there may be a period of adjustment while students become accustomed to the new program.

Students in grades one through six will be using a new series of textbooks and other "attractive, well-designed materials" in place of the I.M.S. program, Mitsakos explains. The program will focus more attention on the application of computational skills and problem-solving, he says, with such areas as probabilities, estimation and math in everyday life to receive more emphasis.

"There will still be small group instruction," the assistant superintendent says, "and the hands-on materials we have been using will still be used — they will be fully integrated into the new program."

(Seifert notes that teachers will take advantage of the microcomputers to track student performance and correct students' work.)

With school registrations still incomplete, the superintendent says he cannot be specific about class sizes; however, he believes they will be much the same as last year's. "We have been very careful about staffing to avoid big blips in enrollments in some (secondary school) classes," he notes.

Bus routes also remain much like last year's (see complete routes printed in this section). The School Committee is maintaining its transportation policy, which is to bus elementary students who live outside a mile and one-half radius of their schools (with exceptions for those who live in potentially dangerous areas), and secondary students who live outside a two-mile radius.

For the moment, user fees also remain the same: $20 per after-school sport, with a maximum fee of $50 per family; and $35 for music lessons not taken for academic credit. (That may change after this week's School Committee meeting. The committee was scheduled to discuss the music fees after this special supplement to the TOWNSMAN went to press.)

The price of a school lunch is also uncertain. Last year's lunches cost 65 cents in the elementary schools and 75 cents in the secondary schools. Food Service Director Richard Barron said the School Committee has yet to vote on this year's price, but was scheduled to take action this week.

A new maintenance system is underway in the schools, under the supervision of Business Manager Francis Paul and Custodian Supervisor Edward Ernst, and it is "progressing quite well," Seifert notes. Students may notice that the secondary schools, which receive "much more wear and tear" than the elementary schools, "are looking better than they have in many, many years," he says.

"The elementary schools are doing their usual excellent job in getting the schools really presentable," he adds.

Each September brings new challenges for the schools. But this year, the superintendent feels there is a new challenge being made to public school education all across the nation.

"I do sense that people are looking for a certain level of quality. The schools are progressing well for the opening — and we're all going to try to do the fine job we've done through the years."

Will this be a good year in the Andover schools? That is impossible to predict, Seifert says. Still, with the coming of the Collins center, cable television and computers, "there's an excitement with what these possibilities are. We'll certainly try to make it a good year."

Dr. Seifert quotes Paul Douglas, the actor who said, "It's always opening night for the audience": "That's something for us to remember," the superintendent says. "The first day of school is always opening day for the students."

Shopping

soft blue, rosewood and gray.

At Feet First, business has been fairly brisk during the past two weeks, and elementary school children have been among the first customers for back-to-school footwear, according to Gail Pfeifle and Aimee Taft.

Older students, including high school students, are apparently procrastinating about shopping. Ms. Pfeifle said: "I have the feeling the rush is going to be more spread out this year."

Stride Rite and Bass leather shoes are favorites among elementary school shoppers, especially the ballet-style leather slipper that echoes a popular women's style.

Loafers and dockersiders are as popular as ever. And sneakers that fasten with Velcro tabs instead of laces — a new twist on a time-honored favorite — have been a hot seller, Ms. Pfeifle said.

She added that working women will probably wait a bit longer — after the school-shopping rush has fully subsided — before coming in for their basic leather pumps.

One store that seemed to illustrate back-to-school shoppers' relaxed attitude last week was Thompson's stationery store, which was quiet on the Friday afternoon before Labor Day.

But one sales person predicted that crowds of students would descend upon the store after the long weekend to scoop up notebooks, looseleaf binders, paper and pens.

West School Opening Day

On the first day of school, September 12, 1983, students should report to the following areas upon arriving at school:

Kindergarten - The Green Doors on Beacon Street

Grade One - The Front Door at the side of the building near the large parking lot.

Grade Two - The Playground Door on the side by the Cafeteria.

Grade Three - The Side Door near the Gym - Door #6.

Grade Four & five - Door #5 - Center Doors from large parking lot.

Grade Six - To Door #3.

All new students should report to the Main Office and from there will be directed to their classrooms.

School Bus Advisory

The school department transportation office reminds parents that parents and students will be responsible for making sure that students are at school bus stops at least five minutes before the stop time.

Police To Enforce Regulations

With the resumption of classes next Monday, Andover police will begin a program of selective enforcement of regulations pertaining to the safety of children going to and from schools.

Police will be patrolling school areas insuring conformance with the 20 mile-per-hour speed limit within school zones, which are specifically posted and blinking lights issue a warning of the approach of the zone.

Also, the police will be ticketing cars which are blocking sidewalks on routes proceeding to and from the schools.

AUTHENTICITY

Among many good reasons to choose

J.A. Calvert's

An example is this handsome Chippendale wing chair. Its frame is a precise copy of an antique now owned by Hickory Chair. It was made in 1744 by a member of the Townsend family, distinguished colonial cabinetmakers of Newport, Rhode Island. John Townsend took great care and pride in his superb craftsmanship. Hickory Chair takes the same care and pride in reproducing this specimen of his work for our James river collection.

53 journalists from 16 countries named it Europe's "Car of The Year."

We named it the new Audi 5000S.

Audi When the new Audi 5000S was voted Europe's "Car of The Year," we were, of course, pleased. But we weren't surprised.

You won't be either once you drive it.

How many other five-passenger luxury touring sedans can accelerate from zero to 50 in just 8 seconds? Or cut through wind resistance with the impunity of a sports car? Or handle superbly, even in tight-cornering situations?

The new 5000S, with its advanced German engineering, can do all this. And more. In fact, after 6 years of designing and refining and over 3.2 million kilometers of road testing, this just may be the most roadworthy luxury sedan ever built.

The 5000S is also the product of fresh design ideas. For example, the idea of flush-mounted side windows and bonded front and rear windows (which not only help reduce drag but virtually eliminate wind noise).

What's more, you'll like the idea of our new 24-month, unlimited mileage warranty* and the long-term reliability that prompted it.

But, most of all, you'll like driving the new Audi 5000S.

Not because all those experts did. But for all the same reasons they did.

THE Rabbit G.T.I.

AutoWeek Magazine Says:

The GTI's main claim to fame isn't the individual parts, but rather their sum. This is a complete high-performance car, one that's fast, handles well, stops, turns, and is comfortable, quiet and safe. It's also cheap compared with some other cars claiming equal performance, and having little more than insane prices to justify bloated reputations.

One warning: GTIs began arriving in limited numbers in dealer showrooms in early October. If you have low lust-car resistance, stay away. If you don't, and test drive a GTI, you'll buy one. Count on it.
